Purpose

This privacy policy has been developed to ensure Corporate Health Management (CHM) meets its state and federal legislative requirements and remains compliant with the requirements of the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) and is governed by the Health Records Act (Victoria) 2001 and the Privacy and Data Protection Act 2014.

This privacy policy is to provide information to our patients, on how their personal information (which includes health information) is collected and used within CHM, and the circumstances in which we may share it with third parties.

Why and when consent is necessary

When an employee registers as a participant (patient) within a CHM Occupational Medicine Service(s), they provide consent for our Doctors, Psychologists, Counsellors, Allied Health, and administrative staff to access and use their personal information so CHM can provide patients with the best possible healthcare. Only staff and subcontractors who need to access to personal information will have access to it. If we need to use a patient's information for anything else, we will seek additional consent from the patient to do this.

When opting into a CHM Occupational Medicine Service(s) the patient may be asked to complete pre-appointment (personal medical history) paperwork, inclusive of consent.

Why do we collect, use, hold and share your personal information?

CHM, in delivering Occupational Medicine Services may need to collect personal information of clients and customers to provide healthcare services. Our main purpose for collecting, using, holding, and sharing personal information is to manage the health of our clients and customers. We also use it for directly related business activities, such as financial claims and payments, practice audits and accreditation, and business processes (e.g. staff training).

What personal information does CHM collect?

The information CHM may collect about patients, when executing company funded Occupational Health Services includes:

- Names, date of birth, addresses, contact details
- Medical information including medical history, symptoms, medications, allergies, adverse events, immunisations, social history, family history and risk factors

Dealing with CHM anonymously

As per The Privacy Act inclusive of Australian Privacy Principle 2, patients, customers, and clients have the right to deal with CHM anonymously or under a pseudonym unless it is impracticable for us to do so or unless we are required or authorised by law to only deal with identified individuals.

How does CHM collect personal information?

CHM will collect your personal information:

1. When a patient makes their first appointment, they will be provided access to CHM's required patient history forms.
2. During the course of providing Occupational Medical Services, CHM may collect further personal information via means inclusive of; Electronic Transfer of Prescriptions (eTP) and/or CHM's IT infrastructure.
3. CHM may also collect a patient's personal information should they; visit our website, send us an email or SMS, telephone us, engage in Live Chat make an online appointment or communicate with us using social media.
4. In some circumstances, personal information may also be collected from other sources. Often this is because it is not practical or reasonable to collect it from the patient directly. This may include information from:
 - Other involved healthcare providers, such as specialists, external allied health professionals, hospitals, community health services and pathology and diagnostic imaging services
 - Patient's health fund or Medicare
 - CHM approved sub-contractors

How does CHM collect, share, store personal information for COVID-19 vaccination checks?

- CHM will only use your personal details for the purposes of getting COVID-19 vaccination information to meet legislative requirements, we can only see this information when we complete our validations, we cannot see any other medical history or information when using your Medicare details
- CHM will not share any personal information with employers outside of vaccination history for purpose.
- CHM will supply employers only with an outcome of vaccination status to support government legislation.
- Data is stored securely by CHM (as per the state and federal legislative requirements and remains compliant with the requirements of the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) and is governed by the Health Records Act (Victoria) 2001 and the Privacy and Data Protection Act 2014 and will not be used for any other purpose.

Who do we share personal information with?

We sometimes share patient's personal information:

- With third parties (CHM approved sub-contractors) who work with our practice for business purposes, such as accreditation agencies or information technology providers – these third parties are required to comply with Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) and this policy
- With other, CHM approved healthcare providers
- When it is required or authorised by law (e.g. court subpoenas)
- When it is necessary to lessen or prevent a serious threat to a patient's life, health or safety or public health or safety, or it is impractical to obtain the patient's consent
- To assist in locating a missing person
- To establish, exercise or defend an equitable claim
- For the purpose of confidential dispute resolution process
- When there is a statutory requirement to share certain personal information (e.g. some diseases require mandatory notification)
- During the course of providing Occupational Medicine Services, through Electronic Transfer of Prescriptions (eTP), CHM's Patient Record Management System

Only people that need to access your information will be able to do so. Other than in the course of providing Occupational Medicine Services or as otherwise described in this policy, CHM will not share personal information with any third party without patient consent.

CHM will not share patient's personal information with anyone outside Australia (unless under exceptional circumstances that are permitted by law) without your consent.

Our practice will not use patient's personal information for marketing any of our goods or services directly to you without expressed consent. If a patient does consent, they may opt-out of direct marketing at any time by notifying our practice in writing.

How do we store and protect information?

Personal information may be stored at our practice in various forms, these include:

- Paper records
- Electronic records
- visual records (X-rays, CT scans, videos and photos)

Our practice stores all personal information securely. To ensure the security of patient information, CHM maintains patient information in the following manners.

Paper and Visual Records: In a secured environment consisting of a CHM operated medical facility, within a locked filing cabinet(s).
